$50,000 DAIRY SUPPLY CO.

Organized to Start Several Creamerles And do a Large Business in This And Adjoining States.

Ogden, Nov. 25 .- Brooding over family and financial troubles caused Clarrace Poole, an employe of a Grant avenue barber shop, to make an unsuccessful attempt upon his life early yesterday by swallowing a half ounce of

After purchasing the drug at a nearby drug store, Poole went to his place of employment and drank the poison. He then went to a saloon, and after drinking a glass of whisky, walked out the rear door, where he toppled over. Oliver Hansen, the bar tender, saw Poole fall and hurried to his side. Seeing that the man was evidently suffering from poison, he carried him into the place and applied emetics, which had the desired effect, and before Dr. G. A. Dickson arrived. Poole was out of danger.
Poole had been drinking quite freely of late, and in talking to Hansen after ordering his drink of whisky, he stated that he had lost his position, that he had a wife and baby, that he thought the world of the little one and that it was bad enough to take his wife away from him but to take the baby was too

Poole stated afterward that he would repeat the act as soon as the opportunity afforded and later became thoroughly intoxicated. On account of the repeated threats to again take potters have taken in the city fall, where son, he was taken to the city jail, where he was locked up for the night. BERTHA KUNZ BAKER RECITAL

Mrs. Bertha Kunz Baker, the New York reader who comes to the taber-nacle next Monday afternoon and evening is beyond doubt one of America's greatest readers. Many able critics have unhesitatingly declared her to be the greatest. Certainly she is better known throughout America than any other woman reader, and her coming to Ogden next Monday is looked for-ward to with the keenest of pleasurable anticipations by not only lovers of literature, but by men and women to whom the ordinary reader never ap-peals. Mrs. Baker is not an "elocu-tionist;" the term is distasteful to her. She is a great reader and a great teacher of reading. For several years she has been associated with Prof. S. H. Clark at the Chautauqua School of Expression, the greatest school of its kind in existence; numbering as it does, more professional teachers of reading than any other school in Amerreading than any other school in America. Both Mrs. Baker and Mr. Clark give a series each of readings at the Chautauqua assembly every year, sometimes giving conjoint recitals. To Ogden people who have listened to toth of these artists, it is needless to say that these readings are preminent. say that these readings are prominent events at the assembly.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Baker will read "Judith and Holofernes," the beau-tiful Israelitish drama of the woman of Bethulia. In the evening, instead of reading from Victor Hugo, as orig-inally announced, she will read Justin McCarthy's romantic drama, "If I Were King.' Two modern stories writ-ten by two of our greatest writers, in the hands of this marvelous reader promises to be one of the literary treats of the season, one that will be appreciated by a large audience.

AFFRAY AT THISTLE.

Two Austrians Quarrel in a Saloon and One Nearly Killed.

Special Correspondence. Provo, Utah Co., Nov. 25.—Jamse Burg, an Austrian, who was employed by the railway company at Thistle, is in the county jail, suffering from severe cuts and bruises on the head, inflicted by James Lombardi, a Thistle saloonkeeper. The two men were drinking in Lombardi's saloon, and a dispute over money matters led to a shotgun and struck Burg on the head with it. Burg ran from the saloon, followed by Lombardi, who knocked Burg down on the railroad track, leaving him there. It is stated that had some women not dragged the wounded man off the track, he would have been killed by a train. There were men on the seene, but they did nothing for the disabled man. Constable Orin Elmer, of Colton, who was at Thistic on business, telegraphed to Sheriff Harmon to send an officer up; Deputy Sheriff Budin was detailed to go, and when he arrived he feared that Burg was fatally injured, and telegraphed for Sheriff Harmon to send another officer and County Physician Westwood. The sheriff and Dr. Westwood left on the country page of the members of 210 children, a fine dinner was enjoyed.

BIGGER IN NORWAY THAN IN BOSTON

H. L. Horne, one of the leading citizens of Norway, Me., was at one time in Boston, and while there he hit upon the idea of getting a suit of clothes made at a first-class tallor's, then bringing home the measurements and taking them to his Norway tailor to have a suit made at his convenience. In this way Mr. Horne reasoned that he could get a Boston suit at Norway prices, which would satisfy him exactly as well as if it were fresh from the city.

He carried out this idea, and in due time the Norway tailor turned out a suit from the Boston measurements, too small.

Of course he imediately took it back to the tailor, and accused him of not following the measurements, but the tailor was willing to take oath that the suit was exactly as the measurements called for.

"Well," said Mr. Horne, "can't you see, you idiot, that they don't fit anywhere, and if they're made by those measurements, how do you explain it?"

"Explain it!" roared the tailor; "why, man, it is the simplest thing in the world; don't you know that you're a blamed sight bigger man in Norway than you are in Boston?"—Boston Herald.
